& The insurrection of everyday life

Living the change. How do we do this, what does it involve? (start making a list of thoughts on this). What is the change?

Community that lives the change right here right now. Living out that life in this space In the sense of an aroma.

The insurrection is the creating these - little moments ... insurrectionary, to act within the culture, but live in the action of the world that is hoped for. What is hoped for? How to do and live out the hope? Creative actions living outside - rupturing - the circle of reality
